Dear Diary,

Today is my 12th birthday. As my parents were very busy, I invited my cousin to come to my home to celebrate this meaningful day together.

When I was waiting for my cousin to arrive, I received his message. My cousin said he missed the train because he lost his wallet. I waited for him at home for a long time. When he came to my home, it was already at 12:15 pm. I couldn't play with him. I was really unfortunate.

To make matter worse, the karaoke room I booked was full. The waiter told me that I needed to rebook, so I booked it again. He said he would prepare my room right away, but it would take 50 minutes. My cousin and I were both really anxious.

Suddenly, the Observatory issued a strong typhoon signal No.8. The karaoke must be closed early. As a result, we needed to go home. We felt hungry and upset.

I felt embarrassed today. I don't know why I was so unlucky! I hope my bad luck will go away tomorrow. My bad luck let me know that I should watch the weather forecast every time. Time for bed now. Good night, Diary.
