

Class: 3A

Name: Lee Yuet Yu

Topic: Help the needy in Hong Kong

According to a survey, most of the needy do not get any help from the public. However, it seems to be a growing trend that not many young people are interested in doing voluntary work. Some of them even think it is a waste of time.

In Hong Kong there are many people in need, for example, the elderly, the poor people and the homeless. They suffer from malnutrition and they are unable to take care of themselves, so we should help them and give them some love and care.

What can Hong Kong people do to handle the problem? There are many ways to help the people in need. We can volunteer to help in community services, for instance, we can sell flags on the street by handing out "flags" to people and receive cash donations in return. It is a meaningful action to sell flags on flag days. This event can raise money for charities which help people who are poor and in need.

It is fulfilling to make a contribution to society. Doing voluntary work, we can develop our communication skills. It is because when we talk to the people in need, we will try to develop a good relationship with them and at the same time we can develop our communication skills.

To sum up, there are many people in need in Hong Kong. We should help them and give them love and care. Since there are many benefits of doing voluntary work, for example, developing communication skills and increasing our self-confidence, we should offer a helping hand to make this world a better place for everyone.