

Mr Chan Ching Hang, Miss Chow Tsz Ying and Mr Chung Wing

5A Chen Chak Kai (22)

The first day I became the Chief English Ambassador, I was determined to achieve greatness. Although I have been an English Ambassador (EA) for two years, being a Chief EA takes on more responsibilities. Reading a written script on the stage in front of all my schoolmates is not a big deal for me, as I simply need to practise. But taking on the role of Chief EA is totally a different thing – I need to organise various activities, ranging from script writing to event planning which I had not thought about before. At first, I was so disappointed in myself because I was not good enough to make these arrangements. Without the encouragement from Miss Chow, I would not have believed in myself.

This year, we organised a range of new activities, including running an Instagram account and visiting Form 1 students regularly. All the English ambassadors cooperate well as a team. First, I want to give a big thanks to my partner Matthew, who is also the Chief EA this year. He is always the one who gives me support. Also, I want to thank Mr Chan, Miss Chow and Mr Chung. They have provided me with a lot of advice and support which help me to keep going. The experience of being a Chief EA was challenging at first, but I gain a lot in the end. This experience is so unforgettable that I will remember it for a lifetime.

5E Leung Ho Chuen (17)

I am Matthew from Class 5E, one of the Chief English Ambassadors this year. In the blink of an eye, this year has already come to an end. Having a ton of school activities and pressure given by HKDSE, I initially struggled to balance my studies and other commitments. During the lockdown in the fifth wave of the pandemic, I could not distract myself from my studies and I was very stressed. However, thanks to my family and friends, I have learnt that I should cooperate with my teammates, rather than do all the work myself. Moreover, if I need to deal with so many things, setting a timetable is a necessity. In that way, all the work can be arranged.

This year, we have made a lot of innovations, such as running an Instagram account and visiting F1 students regularly. I want to thank all Vice EAs and Core EAs here. Without your help, we would not be able to achieve these things. Also, I want to thank Mr Chan and all teachers-in-charge. Your guidance enables us to move forward and organise all the activities well. Last but not least, I want to tell my teammates to stay positive in the upcoming years. Although you will face the adversity of HKDSE and contribute to the EA team simultaneously, you need to cheer up. Sometimes you will be tired, so take a break. Never let yourself step into the endless pit of sadness and stress. You are going to learn a lot. Next year, I am going to make a jump over a valley called HKDSE. I am waiting for you on the other side of it.
